The visitors this week have been Laura Lane, Glenn Eldson, Darline Grinstead, Mary Friermood and Alice Eldson.

This Monday morning found about 20 children ready to enter the new primary class. Beginners may enter any time this month.

A number of pupils were promoted at the beginning of the week, also many were retained, we trust that the patrons will understand that the teachers are making a special effort to get ever pupil into his proper place and where he can do the best work. We think it so much better for a pupil to be the best in a lower grade than the poorest in a higher one.

A special sale on some line of goods every week. Watch out for your own interests.—Harris Dry Goods Co.

Our ladies' hats are being sold at a discount of 66 2/3 per cent. Now is the time to get bargains in this line.—Harris Dry Goods Co.

Springfield Jottings.

We have almost lost out in our correspondence for your paper our time being taken up away from home for several weeks.

Quincy Koos has sold his homestead relinquishment, just north of Springfield to Mr. Thompson, receiving $1800 for it. There was very little improvements on this quarter. Mr. Thompson is now having a well drilled and other improvements made. He will move onto the place next spring.

Born—to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Thompson Friday Jan. 20, 1911 a daughter, Mother and child doing well and occasionally Will's sweet lullaby tones can be heard across the plains.

James Smith was still sowing wheat last week.

Rev. Geo. Carter will preach at Lone Prairie school house Jan. 29, at 3 p. m. This perhaps will be his last appointment if arrangements are not made on that day for further services. Hope every body will turn out, we should strive to have religious services regularly in every community.

While Mrs. W. J. and Will Applegate and little girl were driving home from W. A. Thompson's Sunday, their pony became frightened at some hogs, upsetting their buggy and throwing them out on the ground shaking them up considerably but not seriously hurting any of them.

Arkalon

We are having nice weather again.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin were trading in town Saturday.
